AUGUST 2009 NEWS, UPDATES AND NEEDS

A real-life glimpse of one young lady's experience

*"The Lord is near to the brokenhearted and saves those who are crushed in spirit."
Psalm 34:18*

Last year Jen stepped through our door for the first of many times. Pregnant with her third, Jen was uncertain if this would also end in abortion like her other two pregnancies. Depression and despair plagued her while years of drug abuse and attempted suicides had brought no relief to her turbulent life. That day she spoke with a Pregnancy Center client advocate who listened and encouraged her. She promised to return for Learn 'N Earn parenting classes, but without warning the newly recognized life within her miscarried. She found comfort and support at the Pregnancy Center.

Later, she recounted her story. "I'm so glad I made the decision to come here!" she said, looking down with a quiet smile. She placed a gentle hand on her belly, just inches from the new baby within. A peaceful countenance reflected the changes in her life.

"I'm so glad I came here!"

Soon people like Jen will also be able to receive free, limited obstetric ultrasounds! We'll keep you posted on the exciting progress of our new medical program!

Jen and her fiancé are both enjoying the parenting classes. They are excited about their baby, the ultrasound video they love to show off and their new life together as a family. Jen is a beautiful young lady, treasured by the Lord, and we are excited to see the rest of her story! She thanks the supporters of the Pregnancy Center and hopes her story encourages other potential clients.

 Jen's story is real, though her name has been changed for confidentiality.*
